

The Professional & Scientific Council is a dynamic part of Iowa State's commitment to shared governance. The Council, as well as the other governance bodies in the Iowa State community, works closely with the University leaders to ensure that everyone has a role and a voice.

The P&S Council provides important input and feedback to Iowa State's administration, from the distinctive perspective of P&S staff. The councilors also help to keep colleagues engaged and cognizant about decisions affecting their work.

Joining the P&S Council is a valuable leadership experience that fortifies members' understanding of Iowa State's structure, practices and policies. It is an opportunity to become involved with University projects and initiatives with administrators, network with peers across the campus, and develop positive, meaningful relationships that contribute to our exceptional sense of community at Iowa State.

Departments and units employing P&S councilors also benefit from this experience. The councilors develop knowledge that is used to inform fellow employees, and inspire collaboration between departments through their new connections. This communication, collaboration and sharing of information benefits the entire University.

I strongly encourage you to support employees interested in devoting time and energy to this esteemed body.

Kate Gregory
Senior Vice President for University Services

KG/mb